These be brave words, and yet there can bardly be a politician in the State so ignorant as not to know that Mr. Dickinson is a candidate for reelection; and if the party styling itself Damocratic, has the ascendancy in the next legislature be, and nobody else, will be elected. The above is Bedgwick, Niles, Tappan, Benton &c., were in their hostility to the Annexation of Texas, and yet when the screws were put to them, they all went it. Just recellect how Bagby proved the measure unconstitutional in a powerful speech, and the next time be opened his mouth in the Senate, said Yea to that very measure. Every man elected f om this city to the next Assembly of our state who is nota Whig, will be for Dickinson to the death, and so of Kings, Westchester and Richmond. There may be some make believe opponents from the up-river countier, but if the next Legislature shall be anti-Whig, Dichinson will be nominated on the first ballot. The 'Free Democracy,' with very few exceptions, are very glad to get back into 'the party' and ask no questions. They have been thoroughly cured of any tenacity of devotion to Principle or Freedom by their weary sojourn in the desert of MESSES, D. ORIFFIN & CO. 192 Broad way, N. Y. I. GENTLLMEN. In name to to your note of 16th instant, respecting your improvement adapted to my boilers. I take green pleasure in saying that it exceeds my expectations. It saves a great deal of fuel (at least one-third) gives us agail times perfect command over our fires; and cost, chestent sizes is quite good enough for my use.

The furnace for heating the Hot Loom at my Print works, which I have pump on your plan, has gone for beyond my most sangulae hopes. The heat can be kept from 200 to 250 degrees, and with proper case the variation of the temperature, during a whole day, need not exceed five degrees. To print 16th please of clotts delly not over half a tus of chestnut sized coal; a seed in our over half a tus of chestnut sized coal; a seed at very contract of the targest sized coal, using two of the largest sized stoves, with cast from fixes, throughout the room.

I know by experience that your plan of saving fuel is one. I know by experience that your plan of saving fuel is one

I have requested the manager and some other persons employed in my works, before and since adopting your improvements, to state their views to regard to them, and I amove their letters. Your obt servi.

P. S. I forgot to mention that as regards insurance the risk from the Hot Room I consider now from two-thirds to three-fourths less, than when I used the two large stores, with flues passing through the room.

WEST BLOOMFIELD PAINT WORKS, June 12, 1250.

To Col. D. Griffen Six: I have been employed for several years in the Print Works of D. Brigham, Esq. I take pleasure in stailing that the improvements made by you in the stacks of bothers and in the Hot Room of the works exceed every thing I have ever known before. The coal now used for the Hot Room is cheaper than that formerly bursed in the stoves, the quantity at least one-half seas, and the work done the same. Formerly from sixteen to sevenies than half that quantity of cheaper coal will produce a greater and more uniform heat.

er and more uniform heat.

WILLIAM MACGREGOR, Managor.

West Bloomyfild, like June, 1849.

To Col. D. Griffin: Draw Str. At the request of D. Brigham, Eeq. I have much pleasure in stating my opinion regarding your improvements on firmaces for beating steamboliers, and your apparatus for drying goods from the pricting machine, as applied at his print works.

The furnaces constructed by you at this place, combine in a superior degree, the chief desiders in an ail heat generating contrivances, viz. producing the largest quantity of fiest from a certain amount of fuel, and applying that heat to the point where its effects are desired, and that they answer most admirably the purpose for which they are designed is only what is light have been expected from the correct principles observed in their construction.

It is well known that a forced current of sir, or biast, produces a bigher degree of heat than each se stained by an ordinary draft, and the higher the degree of heat in a furnace is the more completely will the coal used be consumed. But beside this advantage, there is another connected with your melhod. In a furnace constructed out the usual plan, where he than the first is good, a large amount of minamathic gas is carried away into the chimney, which, by your improvements, is burned directly under the bollers: the entire combustible part of the coal is thus made available for producing beat, there is nothing left in the ashes, and nothing least up the chimney.

The advantage which your plan possesses over any other with which I am acquisibed, is otherwise great, beside the saving of fael, a high heat is more speedily obtained, and can be more easily regulated, it is, therefore, well adapted for Singeling and Hot Rooms. Calloo Erinters, Dyers, and Bleachers, can scarcely fall to adopt it when they see it.

I am, str, respectfully, yours.

Trini for Manslaughter-Town Meeting-The Cabinet-Retorm Colonization-Hon. Dab-ney L. Carr. Correspondence of The Tribune.

Baltimons, Thursday, June 29-AM.
A trial of Capt. William K. Cardiner, master of the brig Frances Jane, and William Humpbrier first mate of the same vessel, for the manslaughter first mate of the same vessel, for the manulaughter of William Thomas, the colored-cook of the brig, is now progressing in the United States District Court, before Judge Erath. The yessel sailed from Battimore for Porto-Rico on the 21st of February last, and the cook being drunk the first day, the captain and mate best him most dreadfully, allowing up the same treatment until the moraing of the 24th, when they beat him for full one hoar, made him eat raw potato parings and refere meat. made him eat raw potato parings and refuse meat, and drink salt water with it, causing his death in half an hour afterward. The testimony of the wit-and drink sait water with it, causing his death in half an hour afterward. The testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution on Tuesday and yesterday, details one of the most revolting and inhuman murders I have ever histened to. The result can scarcely be doubted, many expressing their decided disapprobation that an indictment for murder was not found. Ex-Attorney General John Nelson and Messrs. Pitts and Campbell, the ablest counsel in the city, are employed in the defense. It will probably occupy several days yet.

A town meeting of the friends of Clay's Compromise is called in Monument square on Saturday evening, which will be addressed by Judge J. C. Le Grand (Loco), C. H. Pitts (Whig), and other big guns. The great majority of the Whigs and Locos of the City are favorable to Mr. Clay's scheme, very few lavoring the plan of the President and Cabinet. It is much to be regretted, but it is nevertheless the fact that the present Administration, so far as a portion of the Cabinet is concerned, has rendered itself peculiarly obnoxious and unpopular with many of the Whige of the City who so far as a portion of the Cabinet is concerned, has rendered itself peculiarly obnoxious and unpopular with many of the Whigs of this City, who were the first to support honest old Zack Taylor. The injury done the Whig party cannot easily be remedied.

The Reform question is about to become the political hobby for the Gubernatorial campaign, the Locos, with characteristic reguery, endeavoring to claim all the Reform thunder as their exclusive property. This will be strongly contested by the Whigs, and an exciting campaign will be the result. The Locos are laying plot on plot to secure the election of a majority of their friends to the Reform Convention, which, if they succeed, will cause the greatest system of Gerrymandering and pot house reformation ever seen in any State. They go for the election of everything, from a Judge to a chimney-sweep, by the people.—Change! change! is the raillying cry.
